

Points of the Horse

How to play the game:

There will be a sheet with the horse outline on it on the table, competitors have to mark the 'points' of the horse out over the picture with the pins provided. Each pin has a number on it which corresponds to the 'point' it's placed next to.

Any 'point' not used or placed incorrectly will not be scored.

Equipment:

Table and 2 chairs
A4 outline of horse (attached) for each team
Numbered pins
Caulk board and numbered list for placing pins next to
Score sheet per team
Clip board and pens for volunteers running table
Correct answer sheet for volunteer to check scores against.

Tips for Helpers:

Explain to the team members that there is a list of available 'points' next to each point is a pin with a number on it and they need to place that pin in the picture where they think the corresponding 'point' is.

Remind them to work together as a team, that they may talk to each other, and move the 'points' around until they are happy.

Once the end of round whistle is blown they cannot change any 'points' and the sheet must be scored.

One helper to set the table with the next set of picture and pins, while the second helper explains the round.

Allocate one point for each correct answer - total available 20.

When the scores are written up take all the 'points' pins and place them back onto the pinboard next to their number and 'point'.

If you wish a photo can be taken of each team's answers with their answer sheet so that there is a record if there are any queries.
